On the occasion of his eleventh birthday, Lorin Anderson, son of William W. Then games were played, and there was music on the gramophone, after which ice cream, cake, etc., were served. The party had a very pleasant time.

In response to telephone messages, boiler-makers arrived in town last night from Boston to make repairs at the gas plant of the Peoples' Lighting, Heating and Power Co., on account of damages sustained by an explosion Sunday afternoon, and work was started this morning. It is thought, however, that the generator was not damaged. The cleansers will be repaired. The company hopes to get to running again by the last of this week, although no promises can be made.
